'Inclined to refer review of Delhi's infra to Union secy'

Shruti Kakkar

letters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: The Delhi high court on Wednesday took a dim view of a report filed by a high-level committee headed by Delhi's chief secretary that was formulated to give suggestions for the revamp of the Capital's administrative, financial and physical infrastructure, and warned that it will refer the issue to a Union secretary if a revised report is not shared by November 28, the next date of hearing.

The high court had constituted the committee on August 2, around a week after the July 27 death by drowning of three IAS aspirants at a coaching centre in Delhi, after the library of the institute — which was illegally operating out of the building's basement — flooded following heavy rain.

Stating that the entire system in Delhi needed a relook in light of its "outdated" infrastructure, the court asked the committee to give suggestions for revamping Delhi's administrative, financial and physical infrastructure, describing the situation in the Capital as "terrible" and "chaotic", and said it was no wonder that the city has ended up facing one crisis after another.

The commission also com-

DELHI HIGH COURT

prises the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) commissioner, the Delhi Development Authority vice-chairman, the New Delhi Municipal Council chairman, and the Delhi Police commissioner.

On Wednesday, a bench of chief justice Manmohan and justice Tushar Rao Gedela said the committee had misconstrued its order as it had only confined its suggestions, filed on November 5, to Delhi's drainage system, even though the court had asked it to review the city's infrastructure in its entirety.

"Our order has been misconstrued. Our order has not been appreciated. Preliminary glance of this report shows that it is confined to the drainage system in Delhi. This court had asked to review the administrative physical and financial structure of Delhi in its entirety," the court told advocate Santosh Kumar Tripathi, who appeared for the Delhi government.

Though the court expressed its inclination to refer the entire issue of reviewing city's infrastructure to the Union cabinet secretary, it granted the committee an opportunity to file a better report and fixed November 28 as the next date of hearing.

"This court is inclined to refer the entire issue of review of administrative physical and financial structure of Delhi to the Cabinet secretary, Union of India. We want a report, otherwise we will send it to the Cabinet secretary," the court said.

In its report, the committee recommended transferring 22 major drains to the irrigation and flood control department by November 2024. The nine-page report had flagged the multiplicity of authorities, the management of roads and drains, the sewage network, and unauthorised colonies as hurdles in the drainage infrastructure. It also proposed transferring the cleaning and maintenance of all the drains to MCD.

The report further recommended studying the legal framework and enactment of laws to ensure proper drainage/sewage needs, finalisation of deficiency charges between DDA and MCD by January 2025, and desilting drains round the year.

On August 2, the high court transferred the investigation into the deaths of the IAS aspirants to CBI, while criticising the Delhi Police and MCD for failing to act against errant officials, and the city government for neglect to upgrade infrastructure.

On Wednesday, the court expressed its displeasure over the failure of various authorities to coordinate in order to improve the city's infrastructure, terming the state of affairs as "sad". "There cannot be a multiplicity of authorities, the fact that we have to ask them to sit over it, shows the system is not working. This decision (to revamp) has been taken after lives have been lost, the administration has to prevent all of this, it can't be on a reactionary basis. It's a sad state of affairs," the court said.

NGT orders revival of lake near Dhaula Kuan

NEW DELHI: The National Green Tribunal (NGT) has issued a notice to the Delhi Development Authority (DDA), instructing it to restore the 66-acre Kitchener Lake near Dhaula Kuan, which has turned green from algal bloom.

It also sent notices to the Union environment ministry, the Central Groundwater Authority (CGWA), and the Delhi Wetland Authority, asking for reports on actions taken and planned measures to revive the lake, which is part of DDA's Jheel Park behind Dhaula Kuan metro station.

The directive, issued by a bench led by justice Prakash Shrivastava, followed a petition by Delhi resident Anil Sood, who highlighted severe algae growth in the lake, possibly from untreated sewage discharge. In his petition, Sood said that he visited the lake last year and reported the matter to DDA and other authorities but received no response. After a follow-up visit in April, he again reached out to the authorities, but with no action taken, he approached NGT for intervention, Sood claimed.

"Applicant has placed reliance upon the photographs filed on pages 68 to 72 and 76 to show the pathetic condition of Kitchener Lake. Referring to the complaint, he has submitted that though the complaint was made to the different authorities, but no action has been taken till now," NGT noted in its order, adding that the plea indicates serious environmental violations.

The tribunal ordered the concerned agencies to submit reports on actions taken and plans for reviving the lake by February 14, 2025, the next hearing for hearing.

Sood, who remembers the state of the lake during the 1970s, told HT the water was clear blue during that period.

"The lake is in the middle of a park maintained by DDA. It is massive, around 66 acres, yet almost the entire lake is green now, with no clear water visible underneath," he said, suggesting that eutrophication could result from sewage entering the water.

On Wednesday, DDA did not respond to HT's queries for a comment. Last year, the authority conducted an anti-encroachment drive in the Kitchener Lake area, which included a mosque, graveyard, and school, but a Delhi high court order issued a stay on further action.

NEW DELHI: Union home minister Amit Shah will unveil a statue of tribal leader Birsa Munda on November 15 at Baansera park in Sarai Kale Khan to mark his 150th birth anniversary, celebrated as Janjatiya Gaurav Diwas, officials said on Wednesday.

The 20-foot-high statue weighing 3,000kg is being installed by the Delhi Development Authority, officials from the LG's secretariat said. "Its strategic location at a site where the Ring Road, RRTS station, ISBT, Nizamuddin railway and metro station, NH-24, Barapullah flyover and DND flyway converge...will ensure that lakhs of visitors and travellers get an opportunity to see the towering statue...The installation of the statue...will provide an opportunity to people to learn about his pioneering contribution towards India's struggle for independence," said an official from the LG's office.

Court Says Departments Are Working In Silos HC asks for fresh report on city's infrastructure

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi High Court on Wednesday expressed unhappiness over a report filed by a chief secretary-led panel to review the city's administrative, financial, and physical infrastructure. The court pointed out that the committee's report focused only on the drainage system in the city.

"A preliminary glance at the report showed that it was confined to the drainage system in Delhi. However, this court asked the committee to review the administrative, physical, and financial infrastructure of Delhi in its entirety...we are inclined to refer the entire issue of review of administrative, physical, and financial infrastructure of Delhi to the cabinet secretary of the Union of India," said a bench of Chief Justice Manmohan and Justice Tushar Rao Gedela.

The counsel representing Delhi govt urged the court to grant some time to the committee for filing a supplementary report and assured the bench that he would escalate the issue with the committee.

"We want the report; otherwise, we will send it to the cabinet secretary. We will ask the cabinet secretary to examine it," the court stated, adding there was a multiplicity of authorities in Delhi.

The flooding at a coaching centre had left 3 students dead recently

The court said that one needed to look at the bigger picture because there was a far more fundamental problem in the city

"Departments are working in silos. They are not coordinating. We said earlier also there was a lack of coordination between the authorities. The fact that we asked the authorities to sit together and work showed that the system was not working," it said. The court listed the matter for further hearing on Nov 28.

Earlier, while hearing a case relating to safety measures in the coaching centres, the court said that one needed to look at the bigger picture because there was a far more fundamental problem in the city, and it was time to relook at Delhi's administrative, financial, and physical infrastructure, which was outdated and not in line with present-day needs.

It formed a committee, comprising chief secretary, DDA vice-chairman, police commissioner and MCD commissioner, to deal with the issue and submit a report.

Unpaved roads, C&D waste: MCD cracks whip

Vibha.Sharma@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: The Municipal Corporation of Delhi, in collaboration with the Air-Pollution Action Group (APAG) and under the direction of the Commission for Air Quality Management, has implemented the project on abating air pollution through dispersed sources.

Under the initiative, complaints are raised on the 311 app by trained surveyors. These complaints are related to dispersed sources of pollution, such as illegal dumping of construction and demolition waste, garbage, unpaved roads, potholes and construction sites. Officials then assign field staff to resolve the problem within a fixed time. APAG, a non-profit organisation, contributes by training surveyors, managing the system, etc.

MCD officials disclosed that 45,178 complaints have been received under this initiative so far this year, including 6,491 in Oct. The officials claimed that a majority of them have been resolved. "The project is monitored regularly by CAQM and the principal secretary of Delhi govt's environment department. The programme is not to address citizen-centric complaints but to work on issues highlighted by surveyors," said an official. "Agencies and departments like DDA, PWD, CPWD, DSIIDC, Delhi Metro, irrigation and flood control, DJB, NHAI, DUSIB, NCRTC and Delhi Traffic Police also submit their complaints." Overall, officials claimed a total of 1,22,653 complaints received from various sources had been resolved.

"The types of complaints received on the 311 app are related to potholes, malba, unpaved roads, garbage, sand piled on roadsides, C&D waste dumped without safeguards, etc," the official said. "This initiative has helped us look at these problematic areas, especially potholes on roads, which lead to traffic jams and pollution. With joint monitoring and joint efforts, issues are fixed

AN OFFICIAL SAYS

The project is monitored regularly by CAQM and the principal secretary of Delhi govt's environment department. The programme is to work on issues highlighted by surveyors with a given deadline."

Last month, an IIT-Delhi released a study revealing a 15-26% drop in PM2.5 at three pollution-prone clusters in Delhi resulting from tackling dispersed air pollution sources. To evaluate the impact of the programme, 35 portable low-cost sensors (PLCS) had been deployed in the clusters at Jahangirpuri, Rohini and Karol Bagh, all of which already had an existing continuous ambient air quality monitoring station. The evaluation showed that PM2.5 decreased by 26.6% in Jahangirpuri, 15.7% in Rohini and 15.3% in Karol Bagh. The report concluded that targeted interventions could lead to notable air quality improvements in the city.

The civic body maintains it is focused on targeted action to mitigate dust pollution, such as taking up greening of open areas, parks, municipal institutions, roads, etc., and allocating funds for each zone to carry out road patching work. MCD has deployed 52 mechanical road sweepers with capacities of 6.5 cubic metres and 4.5 cubic metres, and these are in operation on around 3,000km of roads of 12 ft width.

"To intensify the cleaning drive and increase work shifts, we decided to procure 18 more road sweeping machines, but our proposal is awaiting clearance of the standing committee, which hasn't yet been formed. To save time, we plan to submit the proposal to the central govt and request funds for the project," said the official.
